Hi All!

I have just found a nice website www.kiskis.net - free pics of Russian Women for Dating. It is actually a link page to another great dating website www.livedatesearch.com that is my favorite one by the way

When I have opened it I remembered when I was in Russia and Ukraine last year. It was beautiful time for me and I really enjoyed the trip.. yeah, I love Russia and Ukraine!

But what I ask myself is why western men prefer Russian women???

I know many men who really think that Russian and Ukrainian girls are the best in the world! I'm disappointed

You can take a look at dating russian women pictures here: <http://www.kiskis.net/> and compare...

Do you think they are nice?

How do you think - why Western men prefer Russian women?

Chao!
Jessica.

Joseph

i could not agree with you more.

i live in Malta, that very small island in the middle of the med sea , i was married for 17 years, our marragie broke up 5 years ago.

i now have these beautiful and wonderful Ukraine woman and we have been together for two years now.

i must say, she is all i have ever wanted in a woman. like you said Joe, not only beautiful and sexy but she also really knows how to love and respect a man. it is as if she has known me all my life and knows every single thing that i like.

all i can say is that i hope i make her as happy as she makes me.

all women are different and the cultures do tend to ruin people at times, this does not go only for women but men also.

i am only glad that alot of eastern men do not realise what lovely and wonderful women they have, if they did i am sure they would not let them go.

We are happy to help people to find their love and make them happy. Here are some of the successful stories written by our members:

Full Name: Edward Davadi

Nickname: edavadi

I found my girl (screen name Inuska) on this great site and I sent a flirt to her. Well at first she thought I was just another American to just talk and email her but did not follow through to going to meet her in her country. I am working in Europe and I just connected with her online. And we had several texts and calls. So I came to meet her and her family in Koustani kz. We all got along so well and we hit it off from the start by checking each other profiles. And found out we were just alike also talking on the phone. When we meet the first time in person it was just like we have be together before it was like we knew each other already. And I have to say thank you to this site i never thought I would come to love some one so much over the Internet. The real love found in livedatesearch.com

Full Name: Promise Adebowale

Nickname: prolove19822

Thank to livedatesearch, couldn't believe this. I joined this site yesterday and I have found my love right now. Now I am happy and I believe we would spend the rest of our life together as husband and wife.

Full Name: Steven Willem

Nickname: nixter

I like this site and the way you got it set up, many nice ladies other than the nigerian scammer I run into, it's hard to chose one when there's so many but I think that I found the one, if not I will be back! see ya!

Full Name: Marc Whitford

Nickname: EZLover

I never thought it would happen... I found a wonderful lady from this website and it was FREE! I have spent hundreds of dollars on other websites and got nothing to show for it. This website took some patience and time, but eventually I found one lady I have been in contact with nearly constantly for two months. Today is our second month-aversary so to speak! We have never been happier! We speak nearly every day and now we use a web cam. The ability to speak for free over the Internet has given us the chance to really get to know each other. In some ways, perhaps better than being in the same city. It will be another two months before I travel to Russia to meet my new fiance. She and I will be ready at that time to make the most important change in our lives, to live happily together. Thank you live date search for making this all possible. Marcus Quote: Of course, we all know that the above are generalizations. And there are deeper characteristic traits that draw the more intelligent men. Such as the faithfulness of the Russian woman, her desire to raise a family and have children, to meet a good man and settle down. Russian women are not nearly as likely to desire a full fledged career outside of the home. They have generally very traditional attitudes. Many men today are tired of the attitudes of feminism and modernism and are eager to find a woman who has more traditional values.

Thanks for sharing these interesting and useful facts about Russian women. Cultural background plays an important role in our personality and also in our thinking. In this context these suggestions are very useful for you if you are looking forward to date or marry a Russian girl.

I remember a really fun date I had when I was single. We were asked on a double date. We didn't have much money so for dinner we brought a picnic lunch to share. It was fun because we ate it at a park.

After we were done the guys suggested we needed dessert. All of us got back in the car and drove. Only the guys knew where we were going. It seemed like a long time when finally we stopped at the airport. I asked what were doing there. The guys then proceeded to tell us the plan. We as couples had races to see how many carts we could return from the airport parking lot in a certain amount of time. The airport paid you 25 cents for every cart returned. After we were done returning carts we put all the money together and went inside the airport and had enough money to buy everyone an ice cream cone for dessert.

I'll never forget that date!!!

When my husband and I were dating, often times we would go to the pier with a bag of oyster crackers ($2.00!) and feed the ducks or the herons. Sometimes we would just bundle up on cold days and go for a drive out to the beach and watch the breakers! Very romantic!

I think one of the most romantic dates I've ever had was when my then boyfriend and I went to the library for books about photography and on the spur of the moment, just for fun, also chose a book of romantic poems. From it came our romantic date.

We made an old fashioned picnic lunch - complete with lemonade, fried chicken, chocolate cake and blanket, all packed into a basket, and then, we found a very beautiful spot by a stream in the wooded area near our home. It was such a relaxed, romantic feeling and he actually read love poems to me as we listened to the birds sing!

I think our hurried lives in this day and age cheats us out of the wonderful romantic moments our grandparents took for granted as they courted. It was a wonderful afternoon and the feeling stayed with us for some time. I have several books of poetry in my personal library now and every so often I will read one aloud to my honey just to surround us with that sweet and tender feeling of romance.

According to me Russian and Ukrainian women can be a good and perfect wife as because they are simple and sweet in nature get marry at their very early age and they give more priority to their family rather than career. they love their family, children and husband more than anything. they are loyal to their families and every men wants the same from his wife.

The thing about online dating is, most of the new dating sites on the Internet now free or paid. Think that just because you have to compete with all of the other well known name dating sites. You have to buy or purchase fake profiles, that is 100% unfair to the members who sign up for their service especially for a paid service. For example I do reviews on dating sites to see which one's are fake. If you have never heard of a dating site especially if it isn't free then if they have millions of members, they don't offer trial service or they need your credit card then it's more than likely fake profiles. On the other hand if they offer a trial service, it's 100% free or they don't have millions of users then you can believe that site is 100% authentic with its members. Remember dating sites that say they have millions chances are you have heard of it before, but if you have not but like the name and what you see but they do not have a lot of members then those are the sites that will have real profiles and the best chances for you to meet someone. The two newest online dating sites I have researched are FaithFulMeeting

Dating Cafe Lounge

Both are 100% Free they are very new so they have real profiles, but the best thing about these two new sites you keep your page position no matter how many people sign up after you. If its a million people who sign up after you and when you signed up you where 2nd, then that's where you will remain until you unregister.

Hi all!

I very much want to share with you about my impressions! Talk about getting acquainted with a wonderful girl with whose I lived for a year!

It happened not so long ago. Exactly one year ago I met a beautiful girl!

Several lines of simple correspondence, and we quickly became acquainted. After that, I watched the video clip with a very beautiful girl, on this video, I saw angel, it was just the girl with whose I corresponded!

After watching, I wanted to get acquainted close, and she answered me !

My angel's name is Angela, before she moved to me in the U.S., she lived with her mother in the Ukraine in Nikolaev!

My God, how many beautiful girls in the Ukraine!

But why she chose me, you ask? The fact that the girl was two years ago on a dating site in search of her prince, but she chose me! I'm very happy with her now!

She prepares delicious, we love often go with her to restaurants in the country, go to the gym together, and she also enjoys sports dancing and cycling. By profession she vet, and she loves animals!

I'm very happy with she! If you have something to share here, do not hesitate to share your experiences!

For happiness ukranian ladies

i could not agree with you more.

i live in Malta, that very small island in the middle of the med sea , i was married for 17 years, our marragie broke up 5 years ago.

i now have these beautiful and wonderful Ukraine woman and we have been together for two years now.

i must say, she is all i have ever wanted in a woman. like you said Joe, not only beautiful and sexy but she also really knows how to love and respect a man. it is as if she has known me all my life and knows every single thing that i like.

all i can say is that i hope i make her as happy as she makes me.

all women are different and the cultures do tend to ruin people at times, this does not go only for women but men also.

i am only glad that alot of eastern men do not realise what lovely and wonderful women they have, if they did i am sure they would not let them go.

I've struggled since Saturday night to figure out what to write about this date...basically because he was so...NORMAL(?!)

I'm almost disappointed that I don't have a good story to tell! THAT is what this experience has done to me so far, ugh. Literally, I meet this nice, normal guy....who talks and pays for dinner and doesn't make odd comments, or try to weirdly touch me...and my thought walking away? "Hrm, no good story to tell about this one"

With that said, he was a nice guy, who lives near me, works as a journalist, likes to travel, prefers white wine to red (like me)...but I left with a question:

What do you do if you had a good time, but there was no "spark"? Or really, what constitutes a spark? I mean, I don't think I'm expecting love at first sight...but am i really at the point where just meeting a normal guys means an automatic second date? Actually, I gave Mr Sunglasses a chance...definitely need to try this guy again

Look forward to your thoughts...

As I watched from my spot on the blanket,
Chasing the ants and the flies.
I see a small boy in the distance,
I hear the farm animals cries.

I see a beautiful meadow,
Perhaps it was once used for hay.
A big granite rock in the center,
Too large to move out of the way.

The boy runs hastily toward it,
Emitting a guttural scream.
His crooked stick thrust out before him,
A blade of steel in his scheme.

He attacks the rock with a furry,
Stabbing and slicing away.
Then he climbs to the top in his glory,
The dragon he's managed to slay.

From atop the dead carcass he scouts,
To see if his kingdom is right.
Then with a bound he descends,
And runs toward the trees, out of sight.

My husband returns to the blanket,
I tell him of what I've just seen.
He sighs as if with remembrance
I swear in his eye was a gleam.

I'll always remember that picnic

Not for the food that we ate.
But for how it makes me imagine my husband,
As a swaggering pirate at 8.

Our love story began in Kremenchug. It was an ordinary day, I came on a business trip to Ukraine and at that moment I had no idea that it was going to be the best day of my life!

When I arrived to the hotel, she caught my eye instantly-- a brilliant smile, shining eyes, positive and friendly. Dasha is her name, offered me to keep in touch with her through the wedding agency she was registered at and I gladly accepted her offer! I wanted to know everything about her and registered on the site right after I came back home.

I have heard that there are different agencies, that cheat people, but uadreams did not appear to be a scam agency! We chatted almost every day and wrote many love letters to each other, it was worth it! The great services, provided by uadreams, made our communication faster and easier. After some time we decided to marry.

Uadreams scams -- is a wrong accusation, because I've been there and tried it myself. Dasha is the best woman I ever met!

Such relationships often took place in the world and will exist in the future.
Nowadays people travel much,talk via internet,social nets and meet on the professional dating sites.I have good example,when one of my friend, using such website found his wife,

Being involved in online dating never make you less of a person, online dating gives many people an opportunity to meet and like the positive people they want. It is a channel you open to anew possibilities and I never see any damaging effect of it.

That's probably true, but what about the situation when an online dater gets into an "endless loop", i.e. dating one partner after another (or even in parallel!) without any final destination in mind? Do you think that there is "nothing wrong" here?

Probably there could be something wrong with the choices made by the person dating, you will never get into endless loop if at least made a different choice in one of the cycles. All I can say is keep on trying if none of those work out then it's about time the person thinks about his/her own choices. Best of luck to you!

Often, people think that they have to learn how to master love when they're already in a relationship. In reality, who you are before you ever fall in love says much more about how your relationship will work out. If you want anything in life to work out, you must have a trusting and loving relationship with yourself first. This is the primary focus in my life coaching work, because a positive self-image truly paves the road for any happiness, opportunity, and lasting joy in life. People who have found real love, didn't get permanently caught up in anxiety, believing they will never find love. Rather, they remember to trust in divine timing. Negative, fearful thoughts only increase anxiety and an anxious mind never speaks nicely to the self

The ideal romantic date is something simple. Going out together to see an orchestral concert, or play is the best. Followed by a nice dinner, and then over to his house to cuddle and watch a movie. A picnic in a secluded spot by a river followed by a walk. I think it would be going out to dinner, then taking a walk on the beach and the couple kissing laying on the sand. My idea of a perfect date is a romantic dinner for two in a quiet secluded restaurant followed by a horse and carriage ride in the park. Then that would be followed by going back to his or your place and spend the night cuddling in front of a glowing fire

Subject: Moscow clubs capitalize on lonely women starved for affection.

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Women sitting alone together in a café would not give most observers pause, but in Russia, a group of women alone acts as a reminder of the country's deficiency in marriageable men. Lonely Russian women are commonplace in Moscow and other major Russian cities where men are dramatically outnumbered by the opposite sex. Mothers and daughters alike bemoan the lack of options available to them romantically. Men are not only scarce, but a good one is next to impossible to find.

Men in Russia are prone to alcoholism, unemployment, and abuse. Generations of women in Russia have witnessed the decline of the Russian man. Complaints about men's rudderless existence and poor treatment of women have become a mainstay for gatherings of women, whether at home, at work, or in a social setting. Wherever women gather, the subject of men is not far behind. Some of these women have taken to dressing the part of the jilted lover awaiting rescue, donning dramatic gowns, complete with stiletto heels as they await their knight in shining armor. A knight that few Russian women continue to believe in or have any hope left will actually materialize.

Most women regale past experiences with men with very few pleasant memories. Even women that have been fortunate enough to be involved in a romance, the love quickly sours and is often replaced by resentment, disillusionment, and unhappiness. Russian women wish to be wooed and dined, and made to feel special. However, even promising men disappoint these notions, causing women to grow hardened as their hope of love and happily-ever-after slowly fades.

The first experience with men a Russian woman remembers is usually her father. Unfortunately, most of these fathers were of no better ilk than the men available for dating at present. Russian women are often raised bearing witness to drunken fathers, heavy drinking, financial insecurities due to lack of motivation to work, and verbal and physical abuse against their mothers. These formative memories create the foundation for a lifelong distrust of men in general, and each subsequent undesirable male encountered is further evidence that the female opinion of Russian men is justified.

To answer the demand for good, decent men, clubs have been emerging across Russia to provide women with the means the experiences they have long craved. One club, Marusia, has taken the concept a step further. Many clubs will have male-based entertainment for women to enjoy. Marusia offers services for women to be in close proximity, if not actual contact, with a desirable man. Women may pay between a few hundred to a couple thousand dollars for the privilege of cuddling with male employees for the experience of closeness and physical connection they cannot find elsewhere.

Starved for affection and love, some patrons of Marusia will request men to spend time with in private rooms. 50% of Russian women are single, with few prospects of a lasting relationship on the horizon. Marusia and clubs like it help these women fill a void, even for a few hours before they resume their search for men that can step into the role of lover, partner, and provider.

Many Russian women consider their future bleak, as the hopes of marriage and companionship become less likely. Some critics believe that these situations are, in some part, created by the women themselves, citing that Russian women are too obsessed with finances and fairy tales. It could be argued in their defenses, that as the lonely fates of these Russian women looms over their heads, cynicism increases and practicality prevail, and the romantic ideals of the past morph into merely desires to be cared for.

Russian women have begun to turn to mail order bride sites to find a husband. Companies like A Foreign Affair have been capitalizing on the demand for marriage minded husbands. Every month they bring groups of men to Russia and the Ukraine. The women attend what A Foreign Affair calls a social, hundreds of young beautiful Russian women attend these events with the hope to get the chances to meet of 25 or so men that have traveled from the USA of Europe. 23 Year old Olga from Odessa say, "I have give up looking for a man in the Ukraine, I have no problem finding a date, but finding a man I would want to be the father of my children is a completely different thing. I want a man my children can admire and respect. I want a man that will be by friend, my soul mate and my lover"

1.Violence

Violence is the case of man having the habit of using violence.It's understandable that if sometimes you make him mad, the dispute occurred. However, he often uses violence, manhandled with you, Why you are still love the man who don't know how to respect, love you like that?

There have been many instances,women still have married with violent man,so she was suffered physical abuse during the remaining years. therefore, when meeting a violent guy, you should stop your love.

And it's not acceptable a violent women.

2. Insult

Some expression of the insulting are animadversion,ignominy, contempt.... These actions are not as serious as violence, so you can ignore several times.But i'm sure that trying to endure isnot bring you happiness.

I'm just crushed to found out that a girl I liked for a month now and went out on a date with her and found out she's using the I want to be friends excuse so she can date another guy. Why the heck did she do this to me? I feel so used because she was bored and was looking for a guy looking like Tom Cruise. I'm a nerd by the way. Before all this she was really depressed about her past breakups. I was trying to cheer her up and this is what she does to me?

Yeah, sometimes girls do that .. that's really frustrating..

Just a quick question: when you've been trying to cheer her up, did you treated her like a friend, or like a lady?

I am a poor student, struggling to afford groceries and all the luxuries I was accustomed to. But every time I get a letter in the mail from my poppa telling me how much he loves me, or a phone call from my best friend on Passfeed just because she was thinking about me, I feel like the richest person in the world. In those moments I feel like I have everything I need. My biological mother is deceased due to a drug overdose when I was only 3-years-old. But today, I can also proudly say I have the privilege of calling a beautiful college girlfriend who we met through Passfeed social network when I newly gained admission to college. She has no blood relation with me but was more than a friend. She was my source of joy, pride and happiness. She showed me all the care I needed from a woman and could always afford to foot the bill of most our outings because of my low background and poor financial state. She was full of humility, kindhearted and a loving spirit. Indeed, she was my missing rib and a vicious woman who I will always treasure for the rest of my life. Kudos to the initiator of Passfeed.

He says that he feels less for you now than at the beginning of your relationship? You have been together for about a year but suddenly you noticed he doesn't answer to your "I love you"s. And lately he asked you, "How do you feel it's [the relationship] going?" As it usually were, you both thought the same, [that] "it's nice," but now he made an unexpected "Yes, but...". He feels less for you now than at the very beginning of your relationship. OK, you got that, but isn't that really OK? Want to know what to do in this case? Okay, guys. Do you consider yourself a bad potential husband? If you find at least one of these qualities, think over these - you are a potential social virgin and you'll never have a wife or at least a woman that you want:

1. Critical
2. Controlling
3. Treat her like an object
4. Don't give her the time of day
5. Use crude or dirty language
6. View *ography
7. Have too high of expectations
8. Don't help out around the house
9. Lose your temper often
10. Lie and cheat

So what you gonna tell me now? Have you discovered anything about you?

Everything has started my eighth grade year. I had made some mistakes and made friends with an awful boy, and he ended up getting us into a lot of trouble that winter. He did everything to make my ninth grade year a real nightmare, and everything was so terrible, that I had to move schools.

So I moved to a private school. I was a new girl there and I was shy, so I didn't talk to much with people, but Mike was that sweet and funny kid and he hugged me all the time. We were walking to my last hour one day, and he said my name, and turned me around and took my hands and got on his knee and asked me if I would do him the honor of being his girlfriend.

I positively replied, and we were happily together. My first real boyfriend, first real kiss, kiss under the mistletoe, and legit relationship...till nowadays.

It's quite difficult to answer as well as difficult to find the answer to your question, because she won't what she wants but here is something u should know....ever since they're born, all the fantasies is about the perfect man, we men on the other hand think about monsters and epic battles. They want a relationship thats for sure but they don't know with who. So keep yourself open and very active(engage in different activities). Good luck!!!!

husband. In fact change the nature and behavior of an * is very difficult, and in some cases even impossible. You can only adjust to the man and try to ignore the bad character traits inherent lover.

There are types of men you should avoided. No hopes for the reforms and no forgiveness! Never marry these guys and immediately tear the relationship, if during courtship you will find out that your man belongs to one of the following types:

1. Alphonse.
2. Alcohol-lover.
3. Alpha male.
4. Aggressor.

The rule of 4 A's. Do you agree with me, guys?

That was really romantic ... That happened many years ago, but I still remember this with smile ... We were walking in the garden the whole night long, stood "on the mountain", just silently enjoyed the the sunset, the city night, kissed. then suddenly took a train and left the city. We returned home only in the early morning...

This is was the most romantic memory. We are still together, but that day was unforgettable!

No offence indeed, but I do not like Russian ladies, and Russian clubs as well. Russian girls are nervous or what. anyway, it's difficult to talk to them and this feeling that you are just a purse full of money and they are like lions on the hunting. if they need something, they will talk to you in a sweet manner, like Sirens sing their songs for sailors. But as only something's going wrong, in a different manner, like they couldn't predict, they drive crazy.
No. I say 'NO' to Russian girls. People have to be more generous, more sincere, more cheerful and romantic. Money makes Moscow goes round. And this is abnormal. Guys, never lose you humanity, especially you, girls. Do not transfer into Sirens creatures.

So I'm an 18 year old HS senior and I have a girlfriend who's 17 years old and she's a junior. Next year I'll be a college freshman and she'll be a senior and the college is close to her. We are quite happy together but I wonder if this relationship has any kind of stigma. Seeing as I'll be in college, I'm not sure whether or not it would be strange or creepy seeing as she is in HS still. It's just a year difference but still, is this uncommon/strange?

Subject: Offline matchmaking making a serious rebound

Posted by 1stworldview on Sat, 08 Oct 2016 02:47:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

After nearly 20 years of growth in the online dating/matchmaking industry, offline is making a big comeback. Why online matchmaking is prone to massive fraud, intentional and unintentional. Men complain that women's profile pictures have no resemblance to the way they really look. Both men and women constantly use old photos from 10 to 20 years in the past. Also with people now taking literally thousands of photos of themselves, they have a chance to find one that makes them look really good. If you have 1,000 photos of yourself and pick the one that makes you look your best, most likely it's not going to be a real representation of yourself. James of Scottsdale, Arizona, was so frustrated about the way women looked that he started asking women to meet him outside the restaurant and then he would sit in his car with binoculars to see if they even came close to looking like their profile picture. If they did not, he would just stand them up.

Men also make themselves sound better physical and economically. The term "$30,000 dollar millionaire" was coined to describe men who drive very high-end cars but are flat broke. Women start dating these men, thinking they are extremely wealthy, then later find out they live at home with their mothers. So there is no wonder many men and women feel like the Internet is just too laced with fraud.

Jenny from Wisconsin says she is frustrated that men online are fixated on women's appearances and have no interest in getting to know the person inside. Dating expert Steven says men's brains are hardwired to look for a mate that will have a high probability of producing and caring for offspring, just as women are hardwired to search for men who can be good providers for the family. Evolutionary biologists have discovered a lot of the physical traits we consider attractive have a sound basis in genetics.

Many websites have now started doing ID verifications, guaranteeing that the person posting the profile is who they say they are, but this only addresses their identity, not their social standing or appearance. Over the years many companies have been trying to use live video chat to help its clients get a real idea of the person's appearance. But so far, no company has had a great success with this. One of the main reasons is that women tend to surf dating sites at night, after they have come home from work or school. At that point, they have removed their makeup and dress more casually; thus, they do not feel comfortable with live video.

So with so many users dissatisfied with online experience, many users are just giving up online dating, citing too many bad experiences. According to industry experts, as many as 50% of women do not show up for dates made online. So what is the best way to find love? For age groups in the early 20s, social events (work, school, bars, parties, and activities) are still one of the main methods of meeting someone that leads to a serious relationship. These seem to work much less well as men and women get older. When you are in your 30s or 40s, your options decrease, as the people you meet in social environments are more likely to be already in a relationship, disqualified due to personal reasons, have children, pay alimony, medical issues and so on. This group from the mid-30s and up has the hardest time finding love online or in their everyday social life. So what seemed to be a dying industry is now having a rebirth. Matchmakers and speed dating companies are booming. The singles events company Pre Dating now offers over 1,000-speed dating events yearly in the US, some upper-end matchmaking services like Executive Global Match charge from $15,000 to $25,000. It's Just Lunch and Great Expectations start off around $5,000 for arranging dates.

One of the biggest jumps in offline matchmaking is the international matchmaker or foreign bride industry. A Foreign Affair has combined offline with online matchmaking. A unique business, it requires all women to come into a local office in one of thirty different countries. This guarantees the appearance of the women and their identity. The men must fill out a background form. The men can correspond with the women online, but when they are ready to meet, they have the option going on one of the company's group tours and attend several events they call "Socials or Dating on Steroids." These events consist of 20 to 50 men and 200 to 500 women. The men travel in groups to Russia, Ukraine, Asia, and Latin America. All women are prescreened by their local offices. Kenneth Agee, co-founder, says, "This is the ideal situation. We screen the women for looks and sincerity. The women love the events because they know men who travel this far are very serious about finding wives. It is a perfect combination. Just think about the last time you were in a room with hundreds of beautiful single women all looking for love."

Neil Clark Warren, CEO, co-founder and spokesperson for eHarmony, is the most recognized face in the online matchmaking industry. As eHarmony moved back to offline matchmaking, Warren went on Fox News to say, "Let us do all the work. You will never get a rejection letter again. We talk to you before, and we talk to them after, and we get you at least one match per month." The new offline matchmaking service is $5,000 per year with a minimum of 12 matches a year. eHarmony has gone through several shakeups over the years but has returned to its roots as a matchmaker service instead of being a dating site.

Subject: Moscow clubs capitalize on lonely women starved for affection.
Posted by 1stworldview211 on Mon, 10 Oct 2016 06:27:32 GMT

Women sitting alone together in a cafe would not give most observers pause, but in Russia, a group of women alone acts as a reminder of the country's deficiency in marriageable men. Lonely Russian women are commonplace in Moscow and other major Russian cities where men are dramatically outnumbered by the opposite sex. Mothers and daughters alike bemoan the lack of options available to them romantically. Men are not only scarce, but a good one is next to impossible to find.

Men in Russia are prone to alcoholism, unemployment, and abuse. Generations of women in Russia have witnessed the decline of the Russian man. Complaints about men's rudderless existence and poor treatment of women have become a mainstay for gatherings of women, whether at home, at work, or in a social setting. Wherever women gather, the subject of men is not far behind. Some of these women have taken to dressing the part of the jilted lover awaiting rescue, donning dramatic gowns, complete with stiletto heels as they await their knight in shining armor. A knight that few Russian women continue to believe in or have any hope left will actually materialize.

Most women regale past experiences with men with very few pleasant memories. Even women that have been fortunate enough to be involved in a romance, the love quickly sours and is often replaced by resentment, disillusionment, and unhappiness. Russian women wish to be wined and dined and made to feel special. However, even promising men disappoint these notions, causing women to grow hardened as their hope of love and happily-ever-after slowly fades.

The first experience with men a Russian woman remembers is usually her father. Unfortunately, most of these fathers were of no better than the men available for dating at present. Russian women are often raised bearing witness to drunken fathers, heavy drinking, financial insecurities due to lack of motivation to work, and verbal and physical abuse against their mothers. These formative memories create the foundation for a lifelong distrust of men in general, and each subsequent undesirable male encountered is further evidence that the female opinion of Russian men is justified.

To answer the demand for good, decent men, clubs have been emerging across Russia to provide women with the means the experiences they have long craved. One club, Marusia, has taken the concept a step further. Many clubs will have male-based entertainment for women to enjoy. Marusia offers services for women to be in close proximity, if not actual contact, with a desirable man. Women may pay between a few hundred to a couple thousand dollars for the privilege of cuddling with male employees for the experience of closeness and physical connection they cannot find elsewhere.

Starved for affection and love, some patrons of Marusia will request men to spend time with in private rooms. 50% of Russian women are single, with few prospects of a lasting relationship on the horizon. Marusia and clubs like it help these women fill a void, even for a few hours before they resume their search for men that can step into the role of lover, partner, and provider.

Many Russian women consider their future bleak, as the hopes of marriage and companionship become less likely. Some critics believe that these situations are, in some part, created by the women themselves, citing that Russian women are too obsessed with finances and fairy tales. It could be argued in their defenses, that as the lonely fates of these Russian women looms over their heads, cynicism increases and practicality prevail, and the romantic ideals of the past morph into merely desires to be cared for.

Russian women have begun to turn to mail order bride sites to find a husband . Companies like A Foreign Affair have been capitalizing on the demand for marriage minded husbands. Every month they bring groups of men to Russian and the Ukraine. The women attend what A Foreign Affair calls a social, hundreds of young beautiful Russian women attend these events with the hope to get the chances to meet one of 25 or so men that have traveled from the USA or Europe. 23 Year old Olga from Odessa says, "I have given up looking for a man in the Ukraine, I have no problem finding a date, but finding a man I would want to be the father of my children is a completely different thing. I want a man my children can admire and respect. I want a man that will be by friend, my soul mate and my lover"

Last night, the movie 2 Brothers and a Bride was on TV and I thought "hey, why not?" The movie was interesting and fresh. It was about 2 brothers from the Midwest that joined a matchmaking tour to St. Petersburg, Russia where they are promised introductions to hundreds of women in 2 weeks.

The characters Jake and Josh live and work in a vegetable farm and their Ma looked after them. When she died, the two realized how lonely and bad they are in household work. With the issue looming, Josh books 2 tickets to Russia as part of the "A Foreign Affair" singles tour.

At first glance, you'd expect a sort of romance over the rainbow but these 2 brothers aren't exactly looking for love; they are looking for a wife. This synopsis makes this rom-com-indie movie unique.

The character Angela Beck, a British reporter doing a documentary on the "A Foreign Affair" scenario, is fascinated and confused about the whole gig. Her character brings in a sensible, down-to-earth and insightful side of the tour.

Overall, the movie brings in a unique outlook on singles tours and romance in entirety. I think it's worth recommending. What do you think?

Nowadays online dating is developing. One of the surveys in 2017 reported that 39% of people find them second half through social media. The logic ending of my message would be: - "Me too" but unfortunately not=) Usually, all of the meeting attempts in real life had been canceled after 2-3 days of texting. To my way of thinking, girls just afraid to meet with strangers, whos they have never see in real life.

Of course, social media helps you to be near each other independently of distance, but this way of dating cant considering like general way of dating in the world!

Hi everybody! I saw a photo of Dave accidently and immediately had a desire to write to him, to share my feelings. The answer from Dave became a big surprising and changed my life forever! We are not afraid of obstacles that stand in our way. This is the distance of thousands of kilometers, and the issues surrounding peoples. Our love is rapidly gaining momentum, and we could not live without each other. We are constantly communicating in chat, exchanged letters and photos. Wishes "Good morning" and "Good night" become permanent in our communication. But still we had a little time, we have devoted to each other, so we decided to see each other in real live.

The most severe time for our relationship was a time when he decided to come to visit me. We could not wait for the moment when we can touch and hug each other. But the most exciting moment was our meeting. It was like a flash of lightning! Only eyes met each other, we realized that we were made for each other!

We spent a very joyful and eventful week. We walked along the city streets and parks, visiting attractions. Most of all we enjoyed our evening in the quiet cafes, where we can chat and get to know each other closer and closer. In our meetings was a lot of romance, but in the end Dave surprised me with his culinary skills! And I really liked it.

With great sadness we learned that came to an end one of the most wonderful week of our lives. Dave had to fly, but we parted with the idea that we are create for each other and our separation will not last long. We look forward to the next meeting, which will be soon.

We are happy!

An intimate relationship is an interpersonal relationship that involves physical or emotional intimacy. Although an intimate relationship is commonly a sexual relationship, it may also be a non-sexual relationship involving family, friends, or acquaintances

1. Having faith, freedom and friendship

You need to have faith. A constant nagging or a skeptical attitude will ruin the relationship. You need to have the freedom to speak for yourself, freedom to follow your heart and the freedom to make your own choices, while you are enjoying the relation with a bondage of friendship. Being in a relation means a balance between the freedom and bondage.

A hookup culture is one that accepts and encourages casual sex encounters, including one-night stands and other related activity, without necessarily including emotional intimacy, bonding or a committed relationship.[1] It is generally associated with Western late adolescent sexuality and, in particular, United States college culture.[2][3][4] The term hookup has an ambiguous definition because it can indicate kissing or any form of physical sexual activity between sexual partners.[5][6] The term has been widely used in the U.S. since at least 2000.[6] It has also been called nonrelationship sex,[7] or sex without dating.
