Most common reason why people feel nervous when they coming on a date is that they think too much about it. When you are about to go on a date - perceive it only as a meeting. Do not expect anything from her. You don't know if you want her as a girlfriend. She may simply not suit you. Oh, and remember - this stress won't reduce to 0. It's not possible. For me, the worst is first 10 or 15 minutes. Then I feel relaxed.
