If it's a foolish thing for you, does it mean that you want to be single forever?

The thing about online dating is, most of the new dating sites on the Internet now free or paid. Think that just because you have to compete with all of the other well known name dating sites. You have to buy or purchase fake profiles, that is 100% unfair to the members who sign up for their service especially for a paid service. For example I do reviews on dating sites to see which one's are fake. If you have never heard of a dating site especially if it isn't free then if they have millions of members, they don't offer trial service or they need your credit card then it's more than likely fake profiles. On the other hand if they offer a trial service, it's 100% free or they don't have millions of users then you can believe that site is 100% authentic with its members. Remember dating sites that say they have millions chances are you have heard of it before, but if you have not but like the name and what you see but they do not have a lot of members then those are the sites that will have real profiles and the best chances for you to meet someone. The two newest online dating sites I have researched are FaithFulMeeting
Dating Cafe Lounge

Both are 100% Free they are very new so they have real profiles, but the best thing about these two new sites you keep your page position no matter how many people sign up after you. If its a million people who sign up after you and when you signed up you where 2nd, then that's where you will remain until you unregister.

dating is necessary since it is your way to know each other there's no such thing as a working relationship without dating all u need is to know the secrets of dating..

anyways, tell me 'bout your stories

We all keep asking to God "Find me Love" and in my opinion we can also find true love by online dating sites.

I believe in interracial marriages and international ones.
Such relationships often took place in the world and will exist in the future.
Nowadays people travel much,talk via internet,social nets and meet on the professional dating sites.I have good example,when one of my friend, using such website found his wife,
here if it's interesting http://romancecompass.com/?trsrc=blog&clid=6652aaAf
He wasn't afraid of the distance,he won her heart at last.
Why not? Loneliness is not good adviser

Being involved in online dating never make you less of a person, online dating gives many people an opportunity to meet and like the positive people they want. It is a channel you open to anew possibilities and I never see any damaging effect of it.

That's probably true, but what about the situation when an online dater gets into an "endless loop", i.e. dating one partner after another (or even in parallel!) without any final destination in mind? Do you think that there is "nothing wrong" here?

Probably there could be something wrong with the choices made by the person dating, you will never get into endless loop if at least made a different choice in one of the cycles. All I can say is keep on trying if none of those work out then it's about time the person thinks about his/her own choices. Best of luck to you!

Often, people think that they have to learn how to master love when they're already in a relationship. In reality, who you are before you ever fall in love says much more about how your relationship will work out.If you want anything in life to work out, you must have a trusting and loving relationship with yourself first. This is the primary focus in my life coaching work, because a positive self-image truly paves to road for any happiness, opportunity, and lasting joy in life.People who have found real love, didn't get permanently caught up in anxiety, believing they will never find love. Rather, they remember to trust in divine timing. Negative, fearful thoughts only increase anxiety and an anxious mind never speaks nicely to the self
