

---

Subject: How should I get out of the position I'm in?
Posted by dave008 on Thu, 27 Oct 2011 17:23:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

In the past few months, a friend I have known for about a year and I have really connected. I have had feelings for him in the past, but because there were difficult circumstances, I never made those feelings apparent. But because we have been talking a lot more in the past few months, both of us had expressed mutual feelings for each other. I was very hesitant at first to get closer to him since I have had several situations in the past where I have been led in circles and strung along with no commitment, only to be told "things aren't working out". So naturally I am untrusting of any guys intentions unless he is to prove himself to me. Yet, this is something I can really see working out, with some effort because we both click so well.

The main problem is, we live a few hours away. Yet he still calls every day and we can talk for hours about anything. And he asks about my day, when we'll get to see each other next, etc. The way we talk to each other it feels like I am in a relationship. But as of now there is no title. I don't know where this is exactly going, and I don't know how to approach the question without making anything awkward... I would hate to not give it a try, and i don't know where he stands on this. What is the best approach to this issue? Thank you for your help .

---

---

Subject: Re: How should I get out of the position I'm in?
Posted by Trish0102 on Mon, 28 Jan 2013 09:09:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Try to give yourself a chance to be happy with him. Even if your past relationships were not successful, it doesn't mean that you will deprive yourself from finding another love. Getting hurt is part of growing up and you will regret in the end why you didn't try your luck with this guy.

---

---

Subject: Re: How should I get out of the position I'm in?
Posted by jessa2013 on Mon, 04 Feb 2013 06:21:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Talk to him about your status and figure each self about your feelings for each other. Ask him if he really serious about you and make commitments..

---

---

Subject: Re: How should I get out of the position I'm in?
Posted by NickLox1 on Tue, 22 Dec 2015 20:06:14 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You may choose to look the other way but you can never say again that you did not know. So don't get lost. Give it a try. Go find the place that you're wishing for. Who you are tomorrow begins with what you do today. And remember: don't be afraid to take a big step if one is indicated. You can't cross a chasm in two small jumps. And if you will lose, real this article to forget about everything that bothered you <http://blog.livedating.me/how-to-stop-loving-someone-who-doe>

---

Subject: Re: How should I get out of the position I'm in?
Posted by LeePalm44 on Thu, 21 Jan 2016 11:13:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

At first, you need to think about your feelings toward him. Then think about whether you want this relationship, in order to not bring inconvenience! You are ready. You just afraid of something and you have to step over this fear. Think twice, because you can lose him. I think you will not feel very nice if he begins to date with one of your friends after your refusal to meet with someone from your friends and acquaintances. You will feel sorry that refused this idea! If you need it, do not miss your chance! - The chance to love and to be beloved!!!!

---

---

Subject: Re: How should I get out of the position I'm in?
Posted by Courtney89 on Fri, 19 Feb 2016 15:08:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I believe LeePalm44 said it best. I don't think I can give advice any better than that. Best of luck!

---